

INTERNATIONAL
PRINCESS PROJECT

SATURDAY,
SEPTEMBER 25, 2010

Dear Friends of International Princess™ Project,

Today in India, over 2 million women and girls have been forced into prostitution – trafficked, kidnapped, lured with promises of jobs or sold by their own families into sexual slavery. Girls as young as six years old are becoming ‘sex workers’ (the term used in India), due to poverty and lack of opportunity.

These women and children have been robbed of their innocence, dignity and freedom. Become a part of International Princess™ Project and change their lives. Give these courageous women an opportunity for a better life – give them hope.

Hope is a powerful principle – it allows for possibility and belief in a different way of life. By advocating for women and children enslaved in prostitution, International Princess™ Project creates possibility, where none currently exists. We are a non-profit organization focused on accomplishing our mission through micro-enterprise. Sewing centers are built in aftercare facilities where prostitutes who have escaped their circumstance come for safety and healing. In these sewing centers, the women create Punjammies™ - drawstring pajamas sewn from gorgeous Indian fabric. These handcrafted pieces are sold in the United States, and all profits go back to the sewing centers, allowing the women to: learn a self-sustaining craft, earn fair wages, and become part of a viable business. For women who once had no hope, now have an opportunity to gain dignity and self-worth. The International Princess™ Project grants hope, dignity and self-worth to countless women that had none.

On Saturday, September 25, 2010, International Princess™ Project will host our third annual gala at the exclusive Shorebreak Hotel in Huntington Beach, California. The Fabric of Freedom Gala is our single largest fundraising event, and is a crucial part of funding freedom for these women. We invite you to donate to this event with a Silent or Live Auction item (see attached Donor Form). Every dollar raised goes to restoring broken lives and empowering women to live free from the bonds of slavery.

You have the power to change lives. Take action. By giving to the International Princess Project, you give these valiant women an opportunity for a new life.

Sincerely,

Kelli Coltman
